

Note: This group of eight guys are close fishing friends and most of them are experienced salt water flats fly rodders. This is their second trip on the Meca and Seaduction in Belize. The group consisted of Brad Young, Todd Roebken, David Blackbird, Michael Schmidt, Will Nichols, Charles Moore, Ned Snyder, and James Kadlick. With a group larger than four, both boats are chartered and anchored together unless they opt to split up for part of the trip. On their last trip, one of the guys who was on his first salt water trip, captured a flats grand slam. The photos do a nice job of capturing the essence of the variety of the fishery that can be accessed in Belize.

Comments and photos from Brad Young, the trip organizer: “We had a great trip overall. Fishing was great, guides and weather were fantastic. Other than a few issues with the Seaduction, we had a blast!! Attached are some photos from my camera. Will send more to you once I get them from the guys. Nato, Taco, Noel and Dean were great!! What a difference it makes having 4 great guides. Everyone was so happy with their guides that nobody switched the entire trip.”

David Blackbird, who took his first tarpon on this trip, commented regarding the guides, “....the service and guides were top notch. On other trips, the guides are itching to be back at the dock and at home – not the case with this trip. It was so refreshing to see how eager and excited they were to be on the water and fishing.”

a snorkeling break

the Seaduction motoring

Cobia taken trolling between anchorages

Blue runner jack

'cuda

Box fish

baby 'cuda

Jack Crevalle

doing business on the flats

